

Week 4

This week we were able to meet with the family that Courtney Dunn put us in touch with. One of the main priorities for the family is privacy. On Wednesday we met and drafted key points that need to be addressed in a privacy agreement to make sure we are on the same page as the family. Tomisin's mother is a lawyer and plans to help us draft the agreement.

We also attended one of the daughter's physical therapy sessions on Thursday in order to get a better sense of our focus. The daughter's occupational and speech therapist were also at the session, so we were able to get a holistic understanding of her development. We were able to observe her using multiple adaptive training tools focused on helping her crawl and gain strength. We also spoke a lot with the PT and OT about what types of features they thought were important for our device.

Moving forward, we have started the initial planning stages for our preliminary report and have begun to divide up the work. This weekend each group member will begin doing background research for our report.

Questions:

-How will funding work and what is the average amount of funding that groups receive?
